AIYD Call for Youth Blog Submissions!

The Alliance for International Youth Development (AIYD) is a community of practice and an advocacy platform of leading US-based youth and community development organizations. Our members work tirelessly in 100+ countries to advocate for and empower youth.

Young people are essential leaders, partners and agents for development. AIYD seeks to provide a platform for youth to voice their opinions on the issues that are most relevant to them. AIYD invites youth aged 15 - 29 to share their personal stories, ideas and insights through its youth blog.

Please review our Guidelines for Submission for more information!
